The art of sailing

Italian excellence by Tankoa Yachts: the 72 m Solo super-yacht is on stage. External lines designed by the acclaimed yacht designer Francesco Paszkowski with interiors by Margherita Casprini, leading interior designer of the firm: the masterpiece of the Tankoa Yachts shipyard – Solo 72 m – is an eco-friendly prodigy of the technology and workmanship made in Italy

An authentic floating private residence in which every detail expresses sophistication and refinement: one of the masterpieces of the Tankoa Yachts shipyard, characterized by large windows that flood the interior with natural light, which narrates the high-end dimension of boating. Six cabins dedicated to 12 guests, a winter garden and a spacious beach club with opening terraces, a large Technogym gym from which to enjoy a striking view, a Turkish bath area and a chilled shower create an unprecedented interaction with the sea. In a seamless connection between indoor and outdoor spaces, the master suite, located on the large private deck equipped with helideck, is surrounded by floor-to-ceiling windows and illuminated by a large skylight, enriched by a Jacuzzi with mosaics by Bisazza and directly connected to two outdoor areas. The interiors of the super-yacht reveal fine materials such as Macassar polished ebony, oak, onyx, marble and a selection of furnishings and lighting by the most acclaimed designer brands including Fendi Casa, Kettal, Oluce, FontanaArte. Refined and prestigious finishes such as grey coloured oak, Nubuck, Forest Black Antique marble from France alternate with Rajasthani Cappuccino marble and Elegant Honed Striato marble from India. And again the Pure White Onyx from Mexico, the Crystalline White Onyx chosen for the steps of the staircase, the walls made of aged oak from a 300-year-old Norwegian farm, the Calacatta marble of Tuscany selected for the Turkish bath and a wood discovered in a medieval castle in Finland used for the sauna. "The interior design - explains Francesco Paszkowski - was created in collaboration with Margherita Casprini (leading interior designer of Francesco Paszkowski Design, Ed.) to perfectly reflect the wishes of the owner. Dark and light shades have been carefully balanced to complement each other and the soft colour palette chosen for the furnishings. Materials and finishes are combined with painstaking attention to details and the Made-in-Italy top brand names are featured on board." An attention to excellence that is noticeable in all the other areas of the super-yacht such as on the stern deck, characterized by a large 6-metre transverse pool and by an area furnished with sofas. Conceived as a versatile area, the space can be transformed into a real open air cinema thanks to the pop-up TV screen inserted in the superstructure. A versatility that guides the whole concept of the Solo 72 m: near the winter garden, for example, the main deck houses an elegant lounge/cinema/reading space that can be closed with a sliding window whenever needed, maintaining a close correlation with nature. "The yacht was designed for private use and at the same time for the needs of the charter, as requested by the shipowner - says the yacht designer. This required continuity between the various convivial spaces, a precise but flexible division according to use, the rigorous implementation of architectural principles and a correct communication between the outdoor and indoor spaces». And to complete the luxury experience, a central garage houses a rich diving equipment and two exclusive 7.50-metre custom-made tenders.
